The forest complex spans 230 km between Ta Phraya National Park on the Cambodian border in the east, and Khao Yai National Park in the west. It is a rugged mountainous area ranging between 100 m to 1,351 m high with about 7,500 of its 615,500 hectares above 1,000 m. The site is home to more than 3,000 species of plants, 320 species of birds and 67 species of mammals, including Asiatic black bears, Asian elephants, gaur, tigers, gibbons, Indian sambar deer, Indian muntjac, dholes, and wild boar. Its waterfalls include the 80 metre Haeo Narok, and Haeo Suwat made famous from the film The Beach. Apart from natural attractions there are other activities that visitors can do while in Khao Yai include rafting, golfing, trekking and horse riding. Khao Yai is also a wine region and there are many famous wineries and vineyards where you can taste good locally produced wine.
